

```
public static int task11CP(String str) { int count = 0;           // Initialize the count of symmetrical substrings to zero int n = str.length();    // Get the length of the input string for (int center = 0; center < 2 * n - 1; center++) {    // Loop through each possible center (2n - 1) int left = center / 2;           // if the center is a character, left and right pointers are the same
        int right = left + center % 2;   // if the center is between two characters, left and right pointers are different while (left >= 0 && right < n && str.charAt(left) == str.charAt(right)) {    // Loop as long as the substring is symmetrical count++;    // Increment the count for each symmetrical substring found left--;    // Move the left pointer to the left to check the next character right++;    // Move the right pointer to the right to check the next character
        }
    }
    return count;    // Return the total count of symmetrical substrings
}

public static void main(String[] args) { String input = "abba";
    int result = task11CP(input);
    System.out.println(result);
}
```